Greetings!

The Office of Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgendered Affairs is pleased to present a directory of LGBT Organizations and Services in the metro DC area. This directory is intended to be an evolving document so if you find that a community group you are involved in is not listed, please e-mail Christopher.Dyer@dc.gov and we will update this directory.

The directory is broken down into two sections. The first section is a listing of organizations with descriptions. This information has been primarily collected through web-based searches. If you are a member of an organization and would like to update your listing, again please e-mail us.

The second section is a list of some basic common services that organizations offer in DC.

We hope that you enjoy this directory and please contact us if you have any changes/suggestions.

Organizational Descriptions

A Common Bond

Email: gjohn6817@aol.com

www.geocities.com/commonbondeast/ma/

A Common Bond is social/support group for LGBT former and current Jehovah's Witnesses in the Mid-Atlantic region. The mission of the various chapters of A Common Bond is to reach out with support to gay, lesbian, bisexual, or transgender individuals who have had association with the teachings of Jehovah's Witnesses, or who may still be active within that organization. Since Jehovah's Witnesses teach that homosexuality is "detestable" and a "sin", gay persons associated with the religion live lives of deeply closeted guilt, combined with a fear of divine destruction. They also often live in fear of being forcibly removed ("disfellowshipped") from the congregation, if they are discovered to be living a "gay lifestyle." Even former Witnesses who have voluntarily left the religion and come out of the closet suffer shunning at the hands of Witness families and friends, who are taught by Watchtower doctrine to avoid all contact. To gain support in a safe, secure setting, regular meetings of A Common Bond occur around the globe.

The Cherry Fund

PO Box 53169

Washington, DC 20009

info@cherryfund.org

www.cherryfund.org

Cherry began several years ago when a group of local residents got together and planned a charity fundraiser. Using modest financial resources, the all-volunteer organization known as Friends Being Friends banded together to put on a weekend of music, dance and celebration. Several other Cherry events would follow, each increasingly better attended than the last. From its humble roots, The Cherry Fund has grown to rival other, longer tenured and more established fundraisers. With each passing year, our renowned events are defined by their superior production, and striking settings, while showcasing world-class talent. At the heart of this all remains a dedication to the GLBT community and the organizations which serve them. Cherry honors the memory of our predecessors as we rededicate ourselves to celebratory spirit of all things Cherry.
